Councillor Kellaway commented that the Annual Report was very good and informative.

Ila Gongotra inquired why the reference to places of worship in paragraph 1, page 3, was only the synagogue and the mosque. Ila Gongotra was concerned that the borough was only concentrating on Christianity, Islam and Judaism. Anne Andrews explained that currently a trial run was taking place and it included all three trips would be to the mosque since it was in close proximity to the town hall. There had already been visits to the synagogue, gurdwara and the mosque.

7 SACRE Dashboard: a chance to share and discuss the latest data and evidence about what's happening in RE teaching in our area

The Chairman introduced the Agenda item explaining that item 6 and 7 were related where item 6 was asking what's happening and item 7 asking what can be done about what's happening.

The Chairman thanked Barbara Meaney, Clive Haines and Anne Andrews for information that they had provided and had been circulated.

Clive Haines provided an update on the Ofsted comments on RE and SMSC. Clive Haines explained that there had not been much change since the last meeting except in Clewer Green School and also the latest change for Holy Trinity School, Cookham, which has done very well and become an outstanding school. Clive Haines also informed SACRE that Ofsted was now also working on British Values and this would soon be in all new inspections.

The following concerns were discussed by SACRE:

- RE not looked at separately in Ofsted reports.
- RE not greatly taught in community schools.
- Difficult to compare schools as RE taught differently in all schools.
- Ofsted reports not specific to RE.
- Difficulty in capturing information.
- Sign up for recent training, mainly from faith schools, not many from community schools.

Councillor Kellaway highlighted a report from Westminster (not sure of name). Councillor Kellaway highlighted the suggested change of name from RE to Religious Moral Education.

Anne Andrews suggested that all members look at the NASACRE website and read the summary of the report which was very helpful.

Members discussed:

- “Life without Levels” – Barbara Meaney and Louise Ceska discussed that it was very difficult to assess levels. A new solar taxonomy ways of working now being introduced where people learn in bits, in building blocks that are not linked to anything and then the blocks would be put together to link and then create and use in new ways.
- Schools would like the children to visit places of worship but the cost of getting the children to the place of worship. It would be great if SACRE could contribute to the coach hire. Councillor Kellaway suggested a charity but it would only fund children from Maidenhead. Councillor Airey suggested the CRS and the Big Society Panel.

ACTION: Karen Butler, Mike Gammage, Anne Andrews and Clive Haines to work on these ideas and report back at the next SACRE meeting.

Ravinder Singh Zandu suggested that whilst the going to places of worship was being investigated, the places of worship leads could attend the schools to give talks and presentations on religions. However, the cost of travel would have to be reimbursed.

Karen Butler suggested using the path that Councillor Airey had suggested and use lists of corporate businesses that the borough held. Councillor Airey suggested linking up with the Big Society Panel. The SACRE members thought it was a great idea.

ACTION: Councillor Airey to email the Chairman of the Big Society Panel with suggestions of linking up.

Louise Ceska raised concern about the importance of recruiting good teachers. Louise Ceska advised that SACRE should be mindful of the challenges ahead.

8 RE Teacher Training and Support: what are our plans?, are our actions effective?, what more can we do?

Anne Andrews updated SACRE about the subject leaders meeting and the twilight training. Both events had had a good turn out except from Ascot. Anne Andrews was planning the next meeting in Ascot. The evaluation forms gave very positive feedback which was very useful.

Anne Andrews informed SACRE that she had been working with Trevelyan school as an advisor at a cost. Anne Andrews was a helpful intervention.

Karen Butler highlighted that there had been no conference last year but Clive Haines advised that a conference was being organised for March 2016.

SACRE discussed webinars for factual information and a conference for the actual meeting and greeting. The importance of quality equipment and recording . and the cost of setup would be expensive.

SACRE discussed doing a survey monkey to find out what teachers actually want and where they go at present for information.

ACTION: Councillor Airey to form a working group with Barbara Meany, Louise Ceska and Clive Haines to form set of six questions for survey monkey.

ACTION: Clive Haines to provide an up to date budget report to clerk to send to members with minutes.

Anne Andrews asked if Bracknell Forest declined the offer, whether the borough would be interested in holding the seminar.

ACTION: Anne Andrews to send information to Clive Haines to take to a Pan Berkshire Board Meeting on Wednesday 4 November.

9 Self Evaluation Framework Section 2 - Effectiveness of the Locally Agreed Syllabus

SACRE agreed that discussion on this item was premature and would be better to discuss this item in a meeting in summer 2016.

However, the Chairman suggested reaching out to RE educators in 2016 to collect their views and thoughts on the current syllabus to influence the new syllabus in 2017.

10 Community Cohesion

Councillor Airey informed SACRE that an innovation project had just commenced with army families in Windsor and Muslim families in Maidenhead. The objective was to develop trust, build dialogue and build better relationships with the two communities.

Two other borough meetings where community cohesion was on the forefront were Big Society Panel and the One Borough Meeting.

11 Any Other Business

SACRE discussed the Pan Berkshire Hub – crossing the bridges.

Anne Andrews talked members through some examples of resources that could be used across SACRE'S. The forms were completed for the six major religions and one blank one for other use.

It was agreed that the forms be hosted on the Borough website for free access
